LIBRARIANS IN SESSION HERE

Revival of Interest in County Libraries Is Theme of One-Day Conference.

A revival of interest in county [illegible] is the predominating theme [illegible] talks and discussions in the one [illegible] meeting of more than 50 librar[illegible] trustees and board members [illegible] district conference held [illegible] library here today.

The meeting is the third of a series of eight district meetings arranged for [illegible] state under the auspices of the [illegible] library, of which George L. McCormick, formerly of this city, is librarian. Today's meeting brought [illegible] representatives from Co[illegible] Mansfield, Shelby, Galion [illegible] a number of other [illegible] and towns of the district.

This series of meetings is the first [illegible] the state library [illegible] time ago and the representative attendance so far indicates an enthu[illegible] interest in the county library [illegible] There are nine county libraries in the [illegible] talks at this morning's session [illegible] Indications are that Marion county will have another one added to the list in the near future. Today's meeting will be a county meeting. The first county library was organized in Van Wert 20 years ago, the reports showed.

[illegible] session opened at 10 o'clock in the library with an address of welcome by Henry True, president of the [illegible] library board [illegible] an address of welcome from the state by George L. Studying Location

The location of the new prison buildings now is being studied by welfare authorities, the governor stated. He added that there will be no delay in carrying out the executive order.

This emergency relief will be in addition to any recommendations [illegible] may be made in a general program of rehabilitation by the [illegible] special committee, he said.

The general program governing the penal policy of rehabilitation over a period of years will have the deliberate consideration which it rightfully deserves at the hands of the new penal and welfare commission appointed by the governor, the statement said. This commission has been ordered to convene at the executive office Saturday morning.

The recommendations of this commission probably will be presented to the general assembly either at a special session or the regular session next January, Governor Cooper said, when final plans may be legally adopted and money provided with which to develop the program.

It does not appear that at this time it will be necessary to call [illegible]

Governor Directs Warden To "Get Busy"

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 29—Governor Myers Y. Cooper today issued an order to Warden Preston E. Thomas in charge of the Ohio penitentiary that order must be restored immediately.

The governor in his order which went to the warden a short time after the shooting began said that the authority of the warden would be backed up by the Ohio national guard.

At the same time the order was sent to the warden Adjutant General A. W. Reynolds in charge of the guard was ordered to proceed to assist the warden in restoring order.

The governor's order said in part: "The governor feels that sufficient consideration has been shown for the extraordinary conditions resulting from the fire and loss of life and the time has now come when the regular routine of the institution must be reestablished."

SAYS ALL CITIZENS BUSINESS PARTNERS

Primary Object Is "Profits," U. S. Chamber of Commerce Head Says.

WASHINGTON, April 29—Business has been face to face with realities which could not be brushed aside with a gesture and it is still confronted with conditions which challenge the resources of intelligent leadership, President William Butterworth declared today in opening the eighteenth annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The industrial giants of the nation listened intently while Butterworth outlined "What's Ahead For Business."

"There has been an overhauling and a testing [illegible] of the agencies of business [illegible] objectives and its methods," he said. "Business has [illegible] upon itself. Out of this frank self-appraisal a fundamental fact emerges in its proper perspective and that fundamental fact is that the primary object of business is [illegible] not the fostering of the arts and sciences, but is now as it has always been in reality—profit.

All Partners

"We are now engaged as never before in enterprises not only tremendous in themselves but upon which hundreds of thousands, even millions of our people are dependent. Thus we are all in a very real sense partners in this great enterprise which we call American business. And so [illegible] good self interest [illegible]

COUNCIL PROVIDES FOR MORE FIREMEN

Transfer of Funds Will Enable City To Obtain Lower Fire Rate by Boosting Force.

Graduation from fifth to fourth class in risk rating with subsequent savings in fire insurance rates estimated at $100,000 on commercial and industrial property over a period of five years was virtually assured Marion today, following provision of salaries of four additional firemen by city council last night.

Eleventh hour legislation to employ four firemen and provide funds for their salaries enabled the city to take advantage of an offer to secure the best fire rating in its history, an offer which would have expired on May 1.

Congratulates Council

Savings in fire premiums [illegible] the next five years is a result of council's act, it was estimated at $100,000 by Fire Chief F. J. McFarland in congratulating that body on its move last night. These benefits will accrue to commercial and industrial interests of the city.

The four new firemen will begin duty Sept. 1 and $2,200 is already appropriated for their salaries. This date is satisfactory to the Ohio inspection bureau which offered the city the opportunity of securing the higher rating.

May 1 is expected to find a crew of engineers from that bureau in Marion to revise the fire rates. Addition of the four men will mean that five per cent will be lopped off the premiums of brick factory and commercial constructions and three per cent off frame industrial and commercial buildings and their contents.

A recent enactment of the state legislature made it possible for Marion to provide funds for salaries of the additional men. The new law provides the tax commission shall withhold the city's election expenses from the following tax settlement rather than permit the city to provide for such expenses in its budget. However $5,720 had already been appropriated this year for election expenses, but will not be needed for that purpose. Council transferred the amount

Woman Jail Prisoner Makes Charges Against Morrow County Official.

By The Associated Press

MT. GILEAD, April 29—Sheriff Charles F. Miller of Morrow county today was accused by Miss Katherine Jones, 19, Cleveland, of taking her on several beer parties while she was a prisoner in the county jail here. The girl, together with Myron Moore of Cleveland, had been arrested on a charge of stealing the automobile of Dr. H. B. Campbell of Cardington.

Arraigned today, Miss Jones, while being questioned by Prosecuting Attorney Miss Fannie Merrell, told of the alleged parties. She said that while she was in jail, she had the freedom of the place. Previous to the girl's testimony, authorities had apprehended a letter she wrote to Moore and slipped into his cell. The letter, they said, also told of the alleged parties with the sheriff.

BULLETS FROM GUARDS BREAK REBEL RANKS

Scores of Prisoners End "Passive Resistance" and Join in Open Mutiny.

MET BY VOLLEY OF SHOTS AT DOOR.

Ominous Quiet Restored After Injured Are in Hospital and Revolters in Cells.

(By the Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, O., April 29—Open mutiny by scores of Ohio penitentiary convicts today forced prison guards and national guardsmen to open fire into the White City idle house when the prisoners made a mass attempt to escape.

Two convicts fell before the bullets of the guards, one being wounded seriously. The convicts, since the Easter Monday night fire when 320 prisoners were killed, had "passively" resisted attempts to control them, but today they dropped their passive attitude and mutinied.

Surging in mass attack against the door leading to the guard room and the main entrance, the convicts armed with clubs and other weapons, threatened to break out of their cell blocks.

Come Back Despite Gunfire Attack

Driven back by one volley of shots they came back a second time. Met again by bullets, sent into the first floor of the White City, they retreated again and took refuge in cells. The situation quieted as quickly as it had flared up, and within an hour after the shooting started the two wounded had been sent to the hospital and the revolters were in their cells.

Many of the convicts in the White City who have opposed the mutiny, took no part in the rush for freedom.

The two wounded convicts were George Tonoff and Jewell Joffa, both of Lucas county. They were serving terms for larceny. Tonoff is not expected to live.

The break for liberty came while National Guardsmen and workmen were erecting a big stockade within the prison walls for the segregation of the idle house prisoners until the locks and doors on their cells could be repaired. They had broken the [illegible] in the passive revolt that followed the prison fire and had free run of the cages.

Only a short time before Governor Cooper had announced that order at the prison must be restored.

When the mutiny provoked firing Colonel R. S. Haubrich in charge of the National Guard troops was placed in command of the situation within the walls. The governor issued orders that martial law was not necessary but that the military would cooperate with Warden P. E. Thomas in restoring order.

Orderly at Meal Time

The effective putting down of the revolt was demonstrated at the noon day meal time, less than two hours after the shooting, when the mutinous convicts were lined up between state troops and forced to march in orderly fashion to the mess halls.

A machine gun mounted on the chapel building where Col. Haubrich established national guard headquarters surveyed the marching prisoners and kept them in line.

The first attack upon the guard room door came shortly after 10 a. m. A missile hurled by one of the surging mob broke the glass in a door leading from White City.

The guards shouted an order to stand back. But the prisoners paid no attention to them. On they came in increasing numbers. A volley of shots spat down from the automatic rifles in the hands of prison officers and guardsmen.

The mutineers fell back under the charge but massed again and drove against the door a second time. Once more the rifles cracked. This time the mutiny was broken. Prisoners scattered to other ends of the cell block but for more than half an hour guards were fearful of going back into the cages.

Dodge Bullets

The fact that there were no more casualties in the shooting can be explained by the prompt action of the [illegible] in dropping themselves to the floor. The shots were fired through the small aperture of the cell block door and the hail of lead went singing over the heads of the convicts. With the first volley most of the men scattered to their cells. The shots went ripping [illegible] the [illegible] which had been hastily evacuated.

Trusties aided the prison guards in straightening out the debris-strewn ranges. The ground floor was covered with glass from broken windows, cell doors hung wobbly on their hinges and window frames were broken and bent.

Most of the damage had been done by the prisoners. The interior of the cells were torn and wrecked and bed ticking was ripped into shreds.

Outside the walls the prison lawn [illegible] with machine guns commanding every exit. In the guard room shutting off passage to the main gate more machine guns pointed their menacing noses upon the idle house.

Every 10 feet on the sidewalk fronting the prison stood troopers keyed for action. In the prison yard other companies of troops arrayed themselves at vantage points surveying the White City and prepared at an instant to send machine gun fire into the ranks of the revolters.

The convicts apparently realized the utter futility of resisting further. By the command of Governor Cooper and the order of Warden Thomas the time had come for restoration of order at any cost. With the casualty list comparatively small for the threatening situation that had prevailed the men went back to their cells.

Eight of them badly frightened surrendered and were removed from the idle house. The guards went into see how much damage had been done. They took the two wounded men to the prison hospital. Protected by levelled machine guns Col. Haubrich ventured up to the entrance of the cell block and talked with several of the prisoners for a few minutes. When he emerged he said he was satisfied

ABOUT AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE

Every automobile insurance policy issued by the Ohio Farmers Insurance Co. and the Ohio Farmers Indemnity Co is clear and liberal in its terms, containing the standard provisions embodied in policies issued by all important insurance companies

The Indemnity policy protects the insured owner of the car against ANY liability imposed by law as a result of the ownership, maintenance, and for use of his automobile

The Company, at its own cost investigates accidents defends law suits, and in all other ways protects the interests of the insured.

The Company also pays for medical first aid needed at the time of an accident.

All of this protection is extended also to any one driving the car with the owner's consent.

The cost of this most vital protection is surprisingly low under the new O F. preferred risk rate. Small divided payments if you desire.

COLLISION INSURANCE

Ohio Farmers collision insurance is REAL PROTECTION, paying for damages to the insured's own car no matter how or when the accident happens. The Company also pays for towing the wrecked car from the scene of the accident Collision insurance used to be very expensive but the Ohio Farmers issues policies at surprisingly low cost

Phone (5256) or call at our newly remodeled, modern insurance office for the latest information about dependable automobile insurance.

Contracts must be let, according to state law, to the lowest responsible bidder on any item or group of items.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer, when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Adv.

The Stars Say--

For Tuesday, April 29

MOST propitious auguries for pleasant and profitable activities dominate the astrological chart for this day. It is a time for pushing to the limit of the abilities especially since the removal of a long-thwarting obstacle or situation makes way for constructive work and substantial progress. This applies to all that pertains to land, property or tangible assets, as well as moneyed investments and scientific or inventive promotions.

Those whose birthday it is are under excellent prospects for an active and progressive year, with much stabilizing of the real property and possessions, as well as investments and promotions of novel or inventive character. Many old congestions may be removed to make way for stable, constructive efforts and worthwhile progress.

A child born on this day should be clever, ingenious and ambitious and should back up its aspiring tendencies by diligence, hard work and sterling qualities of mind and character. Its personal life should also be pleasant and happy.

POSTHOLES LEFT

Jefferson St. Residents Reports Fence Stolen

W. J. HOLT, of Jefferson st., thinks he has been visited by another "meanest thief."

He reported to police the other night that someone had stolen a fence, or at least a part of one.

He had set a row of posts to keep children, chickens, and what have you off his lots, which include a garden. When he went to resume his work the following morning, he found the posts had been removed.

3 UNUSUAL ADVANTAGES COMBINED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE New WESTINGHOUSE Refrigerator

THE RESULT OF A MORE COMPACT FREEZING UNIT

Achieved after 12 years' experiments

TO find these three refinements in one refrigerator is to find the new Westinghouse. To find the new Westinghouse is to find the latest, most complete refrigerator! It has the sixty-inch high, flat Buffet-Top — which saves steps to near tables when dishes must be transferred. The Temperature-Selector — a flexible control of the freezing speed — conveniently located — easily adjusted. And Broom-High Legs which simplify sweeping. There's also the practical beauty required in trim kitchen equipment. The cabinet is symmetrical, lustrous . . . and whether finished in porcelain enamel or lacquer-on-steel, it is easily kept immaculate.

This is the first refrigerator to meet the standard of Westinghouse! For over 12 years, great electrical engineers conducted experiment after experiment in an effort to perfect a freezing unit small enough, compact enough to tuck under the hood of the cabinet. They produced a freezing unit simply constructed, thoroughly built — hermetically sealed to eliminate all danger of dust or disturbance . . a mechanism warranted to give years of satisfaction.

It has taken Westinghouse a long time to devise a refrigerator which fulfills all requirements of capacity, convenience, and comeliness. It will take you but a moment to recognize the additional advantages it affords. Stop in soon, and see!

Should Be Treated Alike.

The fifty-nine year old pastor of a congregation at Mendota Illinois, faces a prison sentence of from one to fourteen years having been found guilty of shooting the sixty eight year old sexton of his church with intent to kill

The shooting occurred last January in the home of the sexton to which the preacher had gone to secure possession of a letter written by him to a member of his congregation, a widow in which he had begged forgiveness for pursuing her with his attentions In some way, the letter fell into the hands of the sexton who planned to turn it over to the church board to show the unworthiness of the pastor Hearing of the sexton's possession of the letter the preacher armed himself with a thirty eight caliber revolver and went to the sexton's home where in a struggle over the letter he shot both the sexton and the sexton's wife and then returned home where he faced a mirror and shot at himself five times but inflicted only two slight wounds

Now it might be supposed that the sympathies of the people of Mendota would be with the sexton and his wife who have but recently recovered from their wounds the former having been shot in the shoulder and the latter in the breast Instead the community was and is almost solidly behind the minister The sexton was at once [illegible] by the church board outside newspapermen who went to Mendota to get the story were given very chilly receptions influence [illegible] though of no avail was brought to bear on the state's attorney at Ottawa to keep him from bringing the matter before the grand jury, and threats were made against witnesses before the [illegible] In all of which there is a reflection of the attitude of [illegible] small towns toward a minister of the gospel a seeming willingness to excuse that in [illegible] which would not be forgiven in a layman

The jury in Ottawa however drew a distinction of its own It dissociated the minister who had been preaching for thirty years from the man who had pursued a member of his congregation with lustful intentions and as he confessed shot the sexton and the latter's wife to save his reputation and returned its verdict of guilty against the man which was as it should be Every respect due the honest sincere Christian minister in his ministerial pursuits but the minister who brings discredit upon his profession by offenses alike against the laws of his church the laws of the state and the laws of God forfeits that respect and should be given no more consideration than given any other man who offends against the law.

Yet there are probably hundreds of citizens in every community of any considerable size in the land who enjoy fire and police protection for which they do not pay a penny by the way of direct taxation although they are well able to bear their part for such protection as prescribed by law

There probably are people in this community, as in all other communities of approximately its size who own household goods and a car a radio set and a talking machine and have money on interest who so make their tax returns as not to exceed the $100 exemption and thus escape direct taxation on personalty permitting others to bear the burden

If every owner of personalty would return at a reasonable valuation that which he owns the tax rate would be cut in two How long it would remain that way is another matter In time the tax eaters no doubt would find new channels in which to burn up money, and the old rate would probably again obtain But this does not obviate the fact that great unfairness is being worked against those who do return their personalty at fair valuations by those who dodge such taxation

SPENDERS IN REVOLT

The passage by the house of representatives of a veterans' relief bill so changed in character that [illegible] Mr [illegible] South Dakota had [illegible] is evidence that another congress election is near at hand President Hoover's letter to Chairman Wood of the house appropriations committee warning against extrabudgetary appropriations which would force a treasury deficit was read last Wednesday in the course of the debate on the relief bill Chairman Wood himself protested against provisions which in his judgment were certain to add $400 000 000 to the cost of operating the veterans bureau The answer to the enthusiastic spenders led by Mr Rankin of Mississippi Rankin Democratic member of the committee on World war veterans legislation was to raise expenditure from the budget level of $530 000 000 to a new billion dollar level

Chairman Wood also charged in his Wednesday speech that the spenders were trying to wipe out the budget system and to destroy the comptroller general's supervisory power over expenditure When the president wrote his letter of April 18 amendment of the World War veterans act figured as an item of only $100 000 000 in a list of major new projects already [illegible] reported and on the house calendar calling for additional appropriations in the next fiscal year The estimated total of all these projects excluding the rivers and harbors bill was $818 427 000 It has now been raised to $1 118 427 000

"This is all that was required to run the entire federal government before the World war" said Mr Wood

"I think that I do not entertain any other than the most cordial and sympathetic sentiments with reference to the survivors of the World war or the dependents of those who have gone on but I do believe that if this bill becomes a law it will not only prove a most expensive proposition but it will be unsatisfactory to every one either directly or indirectly concerned and there will be more occasion for apology by those who have made it possible for the bill to pass if amended than there will be for congratulation by reason of its having passed"

Instead [illegible] amended to meet Mr Wood's views the bill was made worse Representatives supported an unassailable and dangerous measure with an eye to approaching elections, [illegible] It is not [illegible] Responsibility for the conduct of the government on a sound [illegible] was ignored and it was sought to attract votes by incurring a disastrous federal deficit The needs of the World War veterans have been met on a liberal scale Further relief can be given as requirements arise but it ought not to be [illegible] way to wreck the budget [illegible]

The president's warning fell on deaf ears in the house The senate may be more inclined to heed it but if it is not he has the ultimate remedy [illegible] and will undoubtedly apply it—New York Herald Tribune

Be Cautious After an Illness

BY ROYAL S COPELAND M D

Requests have come to me from time to time to write on erysipelas I am glad to do so

From ancient times [illegible] the disease has been observed [illegible] erysipelas but also as St Anthony's Fire It may appear in [illegible] attack [illegible]

In this condition the [illegible] and there is more or less fever In the severe cases there may be delirium

It is a disease due to a germ [illegible] Whatever may be its origin the disease must be taken seriously

The greatest number of cases of erysipelas occur in the late winter or early spring Perhaps the bad weather conditions damp winds and sudden changes in temperature have their effects The lowered resistance of the body after the winter's confinement indoors prepares the way

Erysipelas of the face and head constitutes eighty or ninety per cent of all cases It may involve the face but generally it begins on the side of the face spreading from the cheek as far as the nose

The skin in the affected part is [illegible] It appears glazed and shiny The color varies from a bright red to a darker hue The involved parts itch and burn

It spreads rapidly The duration of the disease is usually from three or four days to ten days [illegible] sometimes longer

There are certain constitutional conditions which may predispose to the development of erysipelas Bright's disease is the chief one of these General debility or alcoholism are important factors Under certain conditions there is danger of it after a surgical operation

Anything that lowers the powers of resistance creates a weakness of the body that permits such germs to enter the system and do their evil work In cases of poor nutrition in old age and in debility from any cause the system is liable to [illegible] up the germ

The person in fine health does not need to fear an attack of erysipelas The one likely to suffer is the person who is recovering from some severe injury or surgical operation In the latter cases erysipelas is [illegible] matter In old people and debilitated persons [illegible] likely to be severe than [illegible]

The cases in which the brain is involved are the most serious In such attacks there is danger of the eyes or the brain being involved

Erysipelas is an infectious disease On this account the patient should be separated from the rest of the family A doctor should be consulted in every case

His strength should be built up with good simple food Milk is one of the best of foods The skin is kept clean and [illegible] by frequent bathing with cold or lukewarm [illegible]

Local application [illegible] remedy as a solution of [illegible] water or an ointment of ichthyol [illegible] vaseline [illegible] may be allayed by swabbing the irritated parts with a solution of bicarbonate of soda [illegible] tablespoonful [illegible] water

Needless to [illegible] the general health [illegible] plenty of fresh air and sunshine [illegible] and vitality the [illegible] will be [illegible] ward off further [illegible] —Copyright 1930 Newspaper Feature Service Inc

Einstein's New Theory.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON

[illegible] new [illegible] Dr W [illegible] Mayer [illegible] new [illegible]

[illegible] to attempt to explain [illegible] new [illegible]

The universe according to Einstein is [illegible] Now Einstein [illegible] of the [illegible] of parallelism be [illegible]

[illegible] in the case of Euclidean geometry [illegible] straight lines [illegible] the Euclidean geometry [illegible] curved at infinity as we say—but [illegible] exceedingly great distance from [illegible] So Euclid's geometry won't do for [illegible] universe being approximately [illegible] infinity or else for a tiny [illegible] portion of the universe

The latter case finds its analogue in the real world in the case of land surveying when we [illegible] small portions of the curved surface of the earth as if it were perfectly flat [illegible] curvature for a small portion of the earth's surface is negligible so that the results come out right when we consider it is flat

Moreover the conception of parallelism can not be realized in the Riemannian geometry which proved so useful for Einstein's general relativity theory For instance consider all the points on our hemisphere above the equator

Imagine two ships somewhere on this hemisphere thousands of miles distant from each other Consider the two compass cards and the two magnetic needles The two needles both pointing to the magnetic north are never parallel to each other

Suppose we left one needle fixed and turned the other needle round on its pivot parallel to the face of the compass, in none of the possible positions for this needle would it ever be parallel to the first needle Thus the Riemannian idea of curvature of space—or more generally of space time—robbed us of the concept of parallelism at a distance

In his new theory Einstein sets up a type of correspondence between directions at a distance from each other This correspondence he chooses to label parallelism because it acts like parallelism It is not precise parallelism as we understand it but it fulfils the same function in curved space time that our familiar Euclidean parallelism of straight lines fulfils in flat space

By assuming the existence of this principle of coordination between directions at different points of the manyfoldness of space time Einstein has been able to make the geometrical structure of this type of universe account for both gravitation and electromagnetism — Copyright 1930 International Feature Service Inc

Photographs of Eclipse Made Possible by Timely Wind That Drives Off Cloud

Astronomers Make Pictorial Record for Posterity; Aviators Describe "Chase."

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29—[illegible] a strong wind which [illegible] swept aside a [illegible] which had obscured the view.

[illegible] Shouts of bitter disappointment greeted the dark blotch [illegible] a moment later a strong wind swept the clouds away and scores of cameras photographed the eclipse.

Described by Flier

The swift passage of the moon's shadow was described by Captain A. W. Stevens and Lieut. J. D. [illegible] of the Army Air Corps experimental [illegible] of Wright Field, Dayton, O.

"We were high above a layer of [illegible] at 18,000 feet over Honey lake, near here, California, [illegible] about 75 miles in the distance.

"The dark spot appeared to be stationary at first. Then we saw it approaching us and knew it was the moon's shadow.

"The dark spot came slowly at first. We trained our motion picture camera upon it and started grinding on film. Faster and faster the shadow came on the clouds below. It passed beneath us so rapidly we could hardly perceive it. Turning our plane we photographed it as it disappeared."

Storm Raging

A snowstorm was raging below the plane at the time of the eclipse and the exhaust fumes from the plane froze and left long trailing streaks in the sky.

The eclipse caused a noticeable drop in temperature to the scientists on the ground. As the sky darkened the air became chill and an unearthly silence awed the spectators.

As the moon moved across the face of the sun astronomers of Lick conservatory and other scientists obtained an almost unobstructed view of the eclipse from vantage points near Honey lake in Northern California.

Hundreds of photographic records were made by the expeditions, the most comprehensive ever gathered to photograph an eclipse.

The brief totality of the eclipse, 1.3 seconds, did not shut off the sun's light for a sufficient length of time to permit taking of the sun's corona as in past eclipses.

SMOKED GLASSES NOT NEEDED HERE

After remaining behind murky clouds all morning and for a greater part of the afternoon yesterday the sun came out faintly about 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon permitting Marion residents to view the eclipse. The eclipse in this vicinity reached its peak about 3:20 o'clock when the shadow of the moon covered about one-fourth of the face of the sun.

Due to the haziness of the atmosphere yesterday afternoon many Marion residents viewed the eclipse without the aid of the customary smoked glasses.

distinctly tends to a sane social point of view.

The federal government can most effectively sponsor a joint movement for stabilization of employment and business and this already has been undertaken by President Hoover through committees of leaders in government, industry and labor, Col. C. O. Sherrill, former city manager of Cincinnati, said at a round table conference incident to the Chamber of Commerce meeting. He said: "To make these efforts a complete success it will be necessary for the states to have their corresponding places in this plan, again working through committees of industrial, labor and governmental leaders appointed by the governor. Fitting into this general plan will be the efforts of the municipalities with their committees on stabilization of industry and employment.

Although municipalities have a more vital stake in this matter of stabilization of industry and especially of employment than either the nation or the states, yet unfortunately little has been done by municipalities heretofore to aid in these problems of stabilization."

More on Prison Mutiny

but the convicts had been subdued.

The rioting followed by a few minutes the attempt of Columbus fire companies to throw hose lines into the prison over the main walls. Ladders had been mounted against the idle house and while the firemen were carrying the hose jeers and catcalls arose from the cages.

The hose was being carried in as an emergency measure to put down any fires the prisoners might start while the work of building the stockade was going on inside.

The sound of shots at the first charge upon the guardroom door could be heard above the jeers directed at the firemen. The ladders against the idle house immediately were converted to another use. Firemen were sent to the roof of the cell block to break in holes 25 feet apart and they were prepared at any minute to hurl tear gas bombs down upon the prisoners.

The first signal for rioting found two prison guards caught behind the melee. They were Thomas J. Broyles and Jefferson Henderson. Reports to the guardroom indicated that these men were being held as hostages but Broyles was promptly rescued by National Guards and Henderson soon after was taken out of the cell block.

When everything had quieted down within the White City officials issued the order that all prisoners be escorted to the mess hall. In pairs they were made to march into the prison yard where troopers formed a guard on either side of them.

They went in an orderly manner to the dining hall and after they had eaten returned quietly to their cells.

Governor Issues Order

Governor Cooper announced this afternoon that he had given instructions to the military to disarm every convict in the idle house and to use such means as were necessary to obtain this end.

Colonel Haubrich indicated that he expected to do this without further resistance.

"The prisoners have promised me that they will do anything I ask them to," he said.

Rev. Father Albert O'Brien, Catholic chaplain, declared that Tonoff, one of the wounded prisoners, was an innocent victim of the shooting. Father O'Brien was called from his home to administer the last sacrament to Tonoff before the prisoner was transferred from the prison hospital to White Cross hospital. Tonoff was shot as he was going to his cell after having refused to join the mutineers, the priest said.

Say Fire Incendiary

A report was made by the Ohio Inspection bureau today indicating that the Easter Monday fire was the result of incendiarism and not defective wiring. The bureau did not attempt to definitely fix the cause of the inferno but pointed out that all the wiring had been installed properly. Secondary fires which followed the main blaze "presumably were started by small groups of individuals who took the occasion to add further excitement to the situation," the report said.

Instead of attempting to force the mutinous prisoners back to work as had been planned the warden last night decided to smoke out the idle men by making no provision for their employment.

In fact the warden said he would not let them work even if they wanted to.

Since the passive resistance program included refusal to work Thomas believed that the new tactics eventually would force the men to abandon their demands for a new warden.

No More "Bargaining"

Discussing his plans last night the warden said: "There will be no more bargaining with the mutineers who have kept the old prison in an uproar since the disaster."

The new course of action was revealed last night after the warden had conferred with Col. Haubrich and State Welfare Director Hal H. Griswold. Whether they discussed the reversal of plans was not made known.

Previously the warden had expressed a firm determination to force the men idle since the fire to return to work. At the same time the convicts declared they would die rather than resume their posts.

The warden made no detailed statement last night regarding his change of attitude, declaring that if he did those inside will know as much as we do. It was believed however he was inspired by the hope that enforced idleness would end the mutiny sooner than would other methods and at the same time prevent serious disorders which might result in the injury of peaceable convicts.

Most of the disorders of the past week have followed efforts to persuade the men to go back to work and at times the convicts threatened to overcome the guards.

Force Increased

Until yesterday the warden did not seek outside aid hoping to control the situation with his regular staff of guards. One hundred and fifty Columbus policemen went into the prison however when it was decided to clamp down on the unruly men. While the police were inside National Guardsmen placed machine guns on the walls.

By late afternoon leaders of the revolt were transferred to London prison farm and the trouble appeared at an end until last night when seven National Guardsmen entered the penitentiary when it was reported the convicts were about to cut off the power.

Prison officials said the prisoners had concealed themselves in a tunnel containing the electric light wires and heating lines. The guardsmen led by their commander Colonel Robert Haubrich searched the tunnel but found no trace of the men. Night Captain H. F. Lamhart said he was certain the men were in the tunnel when the soldiers first entered it.

Another group of soldiers cut a hole into an attic of one of the cell blocks from which it was reported the men planned to escape. After training searchlights into the darkened attic the guardsmen dropped two tear gas bombs as a warning to the prisoners that the room was guarded. No prisoners were affected by the bombs.

Governor Myers Y. Cooper was expected to lose no time in studying the report on the fire investigation prepared for submission today by his board of inquiry. The report contains testimony from guards, prison officials and convicts.

Grove Patterson, editor of the Toledo Blade, will be the fourth member of Governor Cooper's citizens committee which is to make a survey of the state's institutions with a view to improved housing facilities. Other members are Julius [illegible], Dudley S. Bl[illegible] and A. F. Anders[illegible]. [illegible] will name [illegible] member this week.

EVELYN BRENT, irresistibly lovely star, in the bathroom designed by a prominent New York artist and built for her in Hollywood. At home, as in her dressing room on location, she cares for her skin regularly with Lux Toilet Soap's gentle lather.

"An exquisite complexion, somehow, is always alluring. It attracts and holds attention as nothing else will. So naturally, when girls write to ask me the secret of being attractive, I'd like to say to every one: 'Keep your skin really lovely—smooth and flawless. This is all-important to any girl. And you can do it just the way we screen stars do.'"

MARGARET LIVINGSTON, Columbia star "Keeps my skin smooth."

"A GIRL may be appealing for ever so many reasons," says Evelyn Brent, the star whose own magnetism has proved so irresistible on the screen. "But the most compelling charm of all is smooth, soft skin.

"An exquisite complexion, somehow, is always alluring. It attracts and holds attention as nothing else will.

"Long ago the directors in Hollywood found out that no girl could hope to win out on the screen unless she has the kind of skin that makes you fairly gasp with admiration. The close ups, you know, are taken under glaring lights that would show up mercilessly even a tiny blemish

"And now that the talkies are here, there are more close ups to face than ever, so you may be sure we all take mighty good care of our skin!"

AGNES AYRES, Columbia star. "It's wonderful soap."

To Keep Skin Baby-Smooth

"I can't remember who began it," this charming star goes on, "but now almost every girl in Hollywood uses the same method I do—regular care with Lux Toilet Soap We find it most refreshing.

"Indeed it is Hollywood's favorite soap. So naturally when girls write to ask me the secret of being attractive, I'd like to say to every one: 'Keep your skin really lovely—smooth and flawless. This is all important to any girl. And you can do it just the way we screen stars do.'"

Certainly the beauty of Evelyn Brent's own skin is convincing! And did you ever see a more tempting complexion than Lila Lee's? She uses Lux Toilet Soap. And so does Agnes Ayres Margaret Livingston and Dorothy Revier, too, and hundreds of others.

LILA LEE, charming star "I always use Lux Toilet Soap to guard my skin"

Nine out of Ten Lovely Stars use it—in Hollywood—on Broadway—in Europe

Of the 521 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars, 511 use Lux Toilet Soap. It has been made the official soap in all the studios.

On Broadway the stage stars are equally devoted to it. At their request it is kept in the dressing rooms of 71 of the 74 legitimate New York theaters!

And even in the European capitals the screen stars, like their sisters in Hollywood, are now using it!

You will be delighted with Lux Toilet Soap, too. With the fresh smoothness it gives your skin, with its fragrant, generous lather. Order several cakes—today.

DOROTHY REVIER, Columbia star: "Lathers so generously."

DRAMATIC STORY OF ACTION, ROMANCE AND ADVENTURE

BY RICHARD STARR

CHAPTER [illegible]

Jacqueline Is Happy

T[illegible] ...ake, the p[illegible] beside [illegible] ... look at nothing else. H[illegible] ... again ... dreamed of so often wa[illegible] His white teeth gleam[illegible] his [illegible] he asked [illegible] "Yes, I am [illegible] mate?" [illegible] lesson [illegible] I have [illegible] And I have come [illegible]

"What do you mean, Teddy?" [illegible] America [illegible] always. [illegible] I [illegible] I do want to see him ever again. [illegible]

He can't learn to [illegible] to tell her, Jacqueline [illegible] because there was [illegible] eyes.

What had happened? Why had he come back? She was thinking [illegible] in the class room [illegible] lay ready on the [illegible] day had come to [illegible] Jacqueline whom Teddy had known would vanish like Cinderella at the stroke of midnight. What was it that Teddy had come to say?

"Princess," he said, "I want you to [illegible]"

Teddy calmly dropped his [illegible] the floor [illegible] held his arms [illegible] Jacqueline [illegible] know what she was doing [illegible] found that she [illegible] sheltering arms against his broad chest.

"Oh, Teddy!" she whispered with a catch in her voice. "I ought not to do this."

"It's the best thing you have ever done, Jacqueline, my little sweetheart. Look at me, darling!"

But Jacqueline could not look at him. She [illegible] her head down, wondering whether the rhythmic thudding in her ears was the sound of her own heart or Teddy's.

"Listen, then," said Teddy. "Do you love me, Jacqueline?"

"I—I don't know."

"But you must know, Jacqueline. Is there anybody else?"

"Oh, no, no, Teddy. There isn't anybody else. There never has been anybody else. Please believe me."

"Of course I believe you. Then you love me, Jacqueline."

"I—I suppose I do, Teddy."

"That won't do at all—"

"Yes, I do love you, Teddy. Oh, I love you, dear, with every little bit of myself and if I have to leave you I—I think I shall die."

Whereupon the masterful Teddy, it appeared, was satisfied. He folded her against the white expanse of his polished shirt front and held her very tightly.

And Jacqueline forgot the packed suit cases in the bedroom and for a little while was happier than she had ever been in her life before.

And so was Teddy.

All this, Jacqueline told her self [illegible] a very wrong [illegible] I have [illegible] I am [illegible] knew what I am.

She had not meant this to happen [illegible] happy [illegible] moment [illegible] But she was glad [illegible]

For [illegible] something [illegible] and yes [illegible] Teddy [illegible] been [illegible] years.

Hearing him [illegible] something she looked up into his face. There was just a suggestion of [illegible] in her brown eyes [illegible] Teddy's [illegible] was [illegible] already.

"What are you saying, Teddy?" she asked.

"I was saying," Teddy replied solemnly, "that the world is full of a number of things."

"Gracious goodness, boy, [illegible] think of something more [illegible] than that [illegible]"

"The [illegible]" repeated Teddy [illegible]

"I [illegible] full of things today than it has ever been."

"Don't you think you had better let me go?" suggested Jacqueline.

"No," replied Teddy with conviction.

"But you can't hold me like this forever."

"I think I could," said Teddy.

Nevertheless he released her. He felt that if he held her much longer he would kiss her, and until he had said what he had come to say he didn't [illegible] he had a right to kiss her.

There was a distinction between holding her tight and kissing her which perhaps only Teddy could understand, although even he could not have explained it.

Released from his hold, the full meaning of her unhappy position came flooding back to Jacqueline. She realized now that she loved Teddy [illegible] that he meant [illegible] the world to her. And she had to go away from him.

There was just one faint hope—If Teddy were still poor he might forgive her own poverty and still love her, but Teddy quickly burst that bubble.

"Sit down, Princess," he said, handing her to a low chair, "and I'll sit at your feet while I unfold my tale of sudden good fortune.

"My purse is full again. I bought Prinkipo back again and backed him in the Cambridgeshire Plate where he ran 40 to 1 and spreadeagled the field."

O. S. U. STUDENTS TO RATE PROFESSORS

Chenoweth Named Chairman of Investigating Committee To Study Plan.

Marion O. Chenoweth, Marion senior at Ohio State university, is chairman of the investigators' committee at the university to act upon a plan giving the university students an opportunity to rate faculty members according to their abilities. The plan is now being discussed by the student senate. It was introduced by Miss Margaret C. Charters of Columbus, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Charters, both prominent members of the university faculty.

Miss Charters asserts that faculty members should be graded and the ratings published in The Lantern, campus daily, so that incoming students may ascertain where the instructors stand in the eyes of the present students.

Chenoweth pointed out that it also would give the deans and heads of the colleges an opportunity to see how members of the faculty rank in the opinion of the students.

The plan will probably be voted on next week.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TUESDAY. It rained a lot last night and when I woke up I had hanging onto Jubilee and thinking about the drain they took out of Annabelle Lee's side. I didn't know drains were so big. I bet I could of looked into it and seen how she worked inside. There are certainly a lot of things little boys don't know. I bet my father is glad that it wasn't me that had to go to the hospital and have something cut out of my side. He would of had to milk the cows for a long time. I let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth and the calf was all there and they were wrestling and having a good time. They were sorry when Annabelle Lee went to the hospital but they are getting over it. I told them that if it was their sister I would be sorry all the time. Nibs brung the barn pail over by the side of me where I was milking and told me to cry into that and I gave him a squirt of milk all over his face. He was wiping his face on his sleeve and he said "You know I don't like for you to do that!" I reached around with one foot and kicked the pail toardst him and told him to cry in that, and just then I fell off the stool and they all hollered. I didn't even look at them. I got up and finished milking and went in and when I was feeding my face my mother said they were going to take the stitches out of Annabelle Lee's side today and when I asted if they had a dressmaker in the hospital to sew people up they laughed and said the doctor done it. I didn't think it was funny. I said I hoped she wouldn't rip when they took the stitches out and then they laughed again. They are so happy she is getting well that they laugh at everything.

Our teacher that is working whilst our real teacher is nursing Annabelle Lee asted how Annabelle Lee was getting along, and said she was glad she was getting well. She said she had had the same operation and when I asted her if they put a drain in her side like in Annabelle Lee's I asted her if she would let me see the scar and she said she wouldn't. Then she got red and said "The idee!"

After school we all went out to Rocky River and saw the first soft shell turkle of the season and I took off my shoes and waded in and caught it and brung it out. Nibs turned it over on its back and took out his knife and when I asted him what he was going to do he said he was going to cut out its appendix and I grabbed it and asted him whose turkle he thought it was and then when he tried to grab it I slapped him in the face with it and he punched me one. Every once in a while he thinks maybe he has got big enough to lick me so we had a pretty good fight. Younies loaned me her handkerchief to wipe my eye with where he had wiped it.

Harry Is Concerned

"Why ... he demanded. "Then remember me saying I would ... his theory he ... was so fantastic ... there it is ... where ... Philip ... his sleuth ... when we ... them ... I ... the detective had ... drawn his car back of Mr. Veritzen's and had climbed into the big car while Otis ... We turned straight down the ... and then ... us."

"Don't tell me any more now," Mr. Underwood said crisply. "Beat it down here as fast as the traffic will let you. I'll have a lad ready to take the car to the garage so that we won't lose a minute to get inside the hotel. Now that we have the ... on it we needn't worry about the detective's knowing where you are. It's Mr. Veritzen ... will have ... on the third degree."

There was a grimness in his voice which gave me pause for thought when I had hung up the receiver. If my vague surmises about Mr. Veritzen's espionage of us were true it was a matter which did not touch Harry Underwood personally. I knew how much his professional future was involved with Philip Veritzen. I must not let him jeopardize it by the quixotic championship of which I knew his impetuous nature was capable.

But as I hurried back to the car my spirits touched zero. Only too clearly I saw the alternative which I must face if I kept Harry Underwood from telling Philip Veritzen to ... It meant that I must myself take up the gauge of battle with my employer with the possibility of a long shadowy lurking menace deep in my consciousness that in so doing I might have to cope with something infinitely more unpleasant—even dangerous—than the great man's enmity.

Before I reached the car, however, I braced myself to apparent calmness.

"Harry wants us to come immediately to the hotel," I said. "He's only waited for me to tell him of the meeting between Mr. Veritzen and the detective. He says the rest can wait till we get there."

"That's a very wise decision," Lillian said, and the simple words were ... like a little paean of thankfulness. After a moment's puzzled consideration I realized that she was welcoming anything which would postpone the coming interview with her husband. His discussion of the problem presented by our discovery concerning Philip Veritzen would delay her own talk with him and would also give to both of them a halting place, a breathing space, which I guessed would be equally as welcome to the husband as to the wife.

A Strange Attitude for Harry

But both she and I reckoned without Harry Underwood. As I drew to the first vacant space near the hotel he was at the side of the car—he evidently had been waiting for us. Close behind him was Purnell and a garage attendant. They both had received their instructions. I saw as Purnell seized our bags and scurried into the hotel with them while the garage man, climbing into the driver's seat, I had alighted, hardly waited for the doors to be closed before driving off at a smart pace.

Harry Underwood had spoken no word after his first jovial "Hello everybody," patently for the benefit of Purnell. But with the disappearance of the bellboy into the hotel his face altered and when he had assisted Lillian to alight he slipped his hand under her arm and turned with her toward the hotel, leaving Mary and me to follow as we pleased, without a word or glance from him, something entirely foreign to his usual flamboyant courtesy.

He was silent in the elevator also, as were the rest of us. But when we came to the turn in the corridor beyond which lay our apartments he spoke over his shoulder to me.

"D'ye mind ordering up some tea things at once, Lady Fair? And ask 'em to send two separate batches. Have Lil's and mine sent in here. We'll join you presently and thresh everything out."

It's Good To Hear Your Voice

Of course you can't see out of town friends and relatives whenever you desire but you can talk to them on the telephone at any time—and that is next best to seeing them.

The cost will be small—wherever you call. For example there are more than 40 points you can call for a quarter or less.

It will give you a thrill to have an out-of-town friend say "It's good to hear your voice."

SENATORS FIGHTING FOR TOP BERTH

SETTING DIZZY PACE IN AMERICAN LOOP

Wins From Yankees Again; Johnson Displays Rare Ability in Team Handling.

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

IN the face of expert [illegible] said the [illegible] would be lucky to finish any higher than [illegible] place, Walter Johnson's [illegible] continue to set a dizzy [illegible] the American league.

No one can say [illegible] the Senators will finish [illegible] remains that they are playing [illegible] up baseball, taking advantage of every break and winning consistently. The club has been hitting brilliantly, [illegible] and Johnson has shown rare judgment in handling his pitchers with Lloyd Brown, Irving Hadley, Fred Marberry and Garland Braxton as a big four.

Yesterday's 6 [illegible] over the New York Yankees was the Senators' ninth in eleven games and their seventh in a row. Washington [illegible] an early lead and then [illegible] it in the face of a Yankee rally in the latter frame. The Yanks [illegible] Marberry out of the box with a two run rally in the seventh but [illegible] nothing with Braxton.

The Chicago White Sox [illegible] into second place with a 9-7 triumph over Detroit. Carl Reynolds [illegible] home run, triple and single. The Sox got only eight hits to 11 for the Tigers but made full use of them.

The St. Louis Browns [illegible] only five hits off the offerings of Pete Jablonowski, American association recruit, and Cleveland won, 3 to 1.

Wildness Costs Games

Wildness on the part of MacFayden and Morris and [illegible] errors by Miller and Regan enabled the Philadelphia Athletics to score four runs in the ninth with but a hit and beat the Boston Red Sox, 5-4.

In the National league the New York Giants lost their first game of the season [illegible] Brooklyn [illegible] Harvey Hendrick [illegible] with the bases filled in the ninth. The defeat broke Bill Walker's string of 11 straight [illegible] during the latter part of 1929 and this season. Travis Jackson of the Giants hit his fifth home run of the year.

Four home runs, two by Gabby Hartnett and the others by Charlie Root and Cliff Heathcote enabled Chicago to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-4. Root was [illegible] but tightened up in the pinches and fanned nine men.

The St. Louis Cardinals took advantage of eight bases on balls and whipped Cincinnati, 8 to 3. Clarence Mitchell, Card pitcher, suffered an ankle injury in the fourth inning and had to retire. Bell finished for the winners.

The Phillies [illegible] their hits in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings to beat the Boston Braves, 7 to 4.

THE BIG SIX
By The Associated Press

With the pitchers working in mid season form, the Big Six of the batting list of the major leagues were forced to step aside Monday and watch their averages tumble.

Paul Waner maintained his place at the top of the sextet but his average dropped to 500 when Charlie Root held him to a single in four trips to the plate at Chicago. George Fisher, the slugging Cardinal rookie, lost an opportunity to advance on his Pirate rival, going hitless in four times at bat.

Babe Ruth's work consisted of a triple but it was enough to send him into fifth place ahead of Rogers Hornsby who failed in three trials at the plate. Bill Cissell's one hit gave him undisputed possession of the third position as Al Simmons became just another batter.

The alleged [illegible] Assassin Lee Meredith [illegible] any assassins [illegible] Benny Bowden [illegible] slugging killer [illegible] Meredith [illegible] everything except [illegible] the only [illegible] Meredith [illegible] was the [illegible] Bowden [illegible] just [illegible] was that he [illegible] Meredith [illegible] uppercuts [illegible] All the time Bowden was taking the rights and lefts of the hard hitting Meredith he was using the chin of the loser for a virtual punching bag.

Bowden refused to answer the bell for the ninth round until he was examined [illegible] When [illegible] and he came back for the ninth [illegible] to maul the face of Meredith until the final gong. Bowden drew the applause of the audience by the way he ducked the blows of Meredith while boos and hisses filled the hall [illegible] at times [illegible] his uppercuts, many claiming that the blows were all landing foul. Bowden took eight of the rounds with two even.

Ray Schneider, the Marion flash, took the first two rounds to get warmed up and the first minute of the third to do his fighting. With half the third round gone he took Sailor Burns [illegible] Giant [illegible] Right [illegible] that connected with the apparently glass chin of Burns put him on the mat for the count.

Art [illegible] won his preliminary match with Earl Sears when Sears [illegible] at the end of the third round.

WHAT! NO MEETING.

Gentlemen, there being no quorum present for the consideration of business relative to the opening of the city baseball campaign I will now entertain a motion for the adjournment of this meeting in favor of the fight show being held in the Steam Shovel gym. Thus quoth President Crisinger of the city baseball commission last night as the board convened for its regular meeting.

It's moved, seconded and given a favorable vote came back the speedy report. And there you have the results of the regular meeting of the city baseball commission scheduled for last night. The motto of the board as expressed by one of the members is: When business interferes with pleasure cut out the business. Anyway the commission did not transact any business. It was too interested in seeing the fights. It will meet Monday night in the Y.

STAR OPENS SEASON

The Marion Star [illegible] team will play [illegible] of the [illegible] take on the [illegible] The [illegible] for other teams have been announced.

A quartet of the greatest sprint stars in the racing game today has signed up for the Ohio Relays to be held at Ohio State University on May 2 and 3. Headed by George Simpson, holder of the world's record in the 100 yard dash and co-holder of the mark in the 220 yard event, the greatest field of dash men to be assembled this year will be ready for the starting gun at the big Buckeye carnival. Claude Bracey of Rice Institute, Texas, Dee Huston of Denison and Eddie Tolan of Michigan comprise Simpson's chief opposition.

Bracey has run the 100 in 9[illegible] seconds, a time that Tolan is also credited with. Huston turned in 9.6 last year on more than one occasion. All four of the men were finalists in the National Collegiate Championships last June in Chicago. Record breaking crowds are expected to attend the afternoon session of May 3 when Simpson will defend his title of "World's fastest human" against a great dash field from all sections of the country. This is Simpson's last year of competition. He has been champion of both the Ohio and Penn Relays for the past two years.

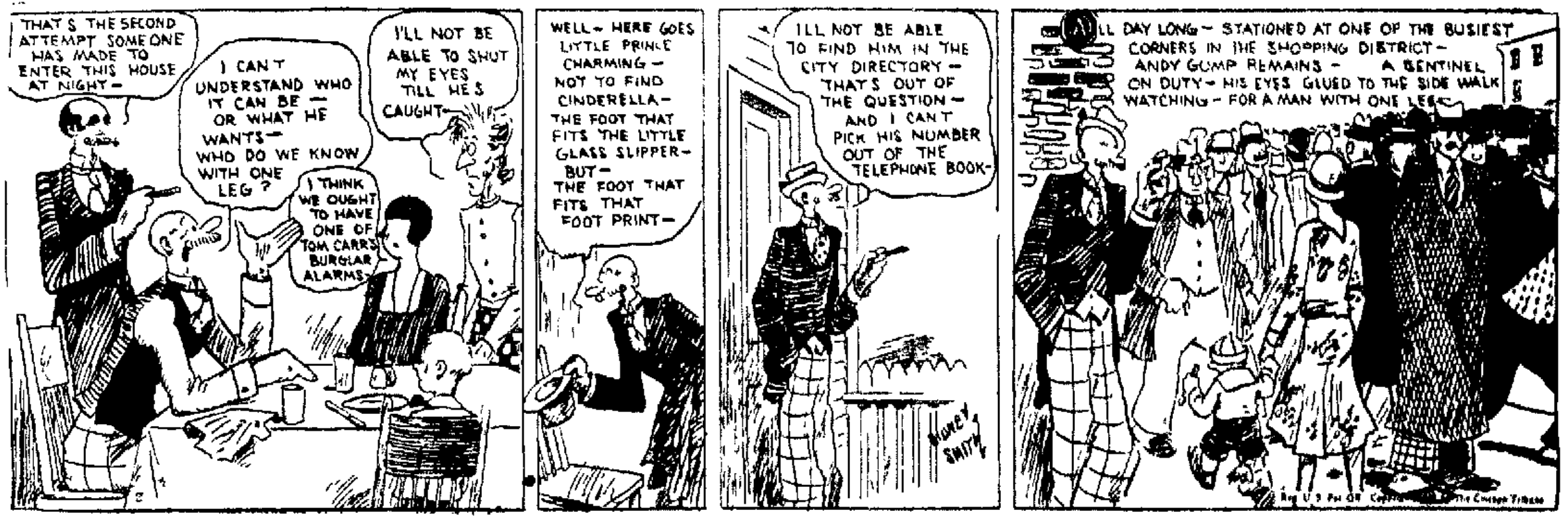
THE GUMPS

BY SIDNEY SMITH



THAT'S THE SECOND ATTEMPT SOMEONE HAS MADE TO ENTER THIS HOUSE AT NIGHT —
I CAN'T UNDERSTAND WHO IT CAN BE — OR WHAT HE WANTS — WHO DO WE KNOW WITH ONE LEG?
I'LL NOT BE ABLE TO SHUT MY EYES TILL HE'S CAUGHT —
I THINK WE OUGHT TO HAVE ONE OF TOM CARR'S BURGLAR ALARMS —
WELL — HERE GOES LITTLE PRINCE CHARMING — NOT TO FIND CINDERELLA — THE FOOT THAT FITS THE LITTLE GLASS SLIPPER — BUT — THE FOOT THAT FITS THAT FOOT PRINT —
I'LL NOT BE ABLE TO FIND HIM IN THE CITY DIRECTORY — THAT'S OUT OF THE QUESTION — AND I CAN'T PICK HIS NUMBER OUT OF THE TELEPHONE BOOK —

TWENTY FIVE DOLLARS — HOW WILL YOU HAVE IT SIR?
I GUESS THIS IS THE SWELLEST BANK IN THE WORLD —
NOW ANNIE WE'RE GOING SHOPPING — WE'LL SPEND THIS TWENTY FIVE DOLLARS AND BUY YOU SOME NEW CLOTHES
GEE MR ALBERT IT'S JUST GRAND OF YOU TO THINK OF THAT — BUT THE SHOPPING TRIP IS OFF!
THE FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS YOU GOT FROM THE STREET CAR COMPANY IS EVERY CENT YOU HAVE IN THE WORLD — 'COURSE I'D LIKE SWELL CLOTHES — I'D LIKE AUTOMOBILES AND DIAMONDS TOO — BUT WE CAN'T AFFORD 'EM —
I GUESS YOU KNOW I'M GRATEFUL — AN' I THINK YOU'RE GRAND, BUT ALL I REALLY NEED IS A COUPLE OF BUCKS TO BUY A PAIR OF SHOES — AN' THE SATISFACTION OF KNOWIN' YOU'VE GOT SOME COIN SAFE IN A BANK —
